

Cognitive Reframing

A guided workbook to transform limiting thoughts into truth-based prayers and perspectives.

Introduction: Reframing Through Faith & Renewal

Cognitive Reframing teaches us to notice the thoughts that shape our emotions and behaviour — but in faith, we go one step further. We don't only replace limiting thoughts with neutral ones; we replace them with truth. This workbook invites you to turn mental noise into meaningful dialogue with Abba — to recognise fear, question it with grace, and transform it into prayer. As you write, reflect, and reframe, may each page guide you back to peace, reminding you that the goal is not perfection of thought but renewal of mind.

Reframe Template

First thought

What came up naturally — the instinctive thought or worry

Counter Thought / Emotion

What followed — hesitation, guilt, anxiety, self-doubt, or resistance

Name it simply, without shame — it loses power when it's named.

Root

Where this emotion or thought pattern comes from — what memory, experience, or belief might be underneath it?

Fear Statement

Name it simply, without shame — it loses power when it's named.

Prayer Reframe

Turn the fear into a truth-based prayer — rooted in trust, not tension.

Anchor Verse

Write or look up a verse that aligns with your prayer.

Lets Reframe

First Thought

(What came up naturally — the instinctive thought or worry)

Example: “Let me switch on the downstairs radiator.”

Counter Thought / Emotion

(What followed — hesitation, guilt, anxiety, self-doubt, or resistance)

Example: “I shouldn’t because it’ll increase the bills.”

Root

(Where this emotion or thought pattern comes from — what memory, experience, or belief might be underneath it?)

Example: “Growing up, I always had to mind the cost of things.”

Fear Statement

Example

(Name it simply, without shame — it loses potency when it’s named.)

“I’m afraid of increasing our bills or mismanaging resources.”

Lets Reframe

Prayer Reframe

(Turn the fear into a truth-based prayer — rooted in trust, not tension.)

Example

“Abba, may I remember that You provide for every need in this house — warmth, peace, and provision.”

Anchor Verse

(Write or look up a verse that aligns with your prayer.)

Example: *“My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory.” – Philippians 4:19

Prayer of Provision and Trust in Abba's Providence

Abba Father,
You are my Source and my Sustainer.
Before I speak a need, You already know it. Before I ask,
You have already made a way.

Today, I choose to release the weight of worry and rest in Your abundance.

Teach me to trust Your timing, even when the numbers
don't add up and the path feels uncertain.
Remind me that provision is not only in what I can see,
but in Your unseen faithfulness that never runs dry.

May my hands work diligently, my heart stay peaceful,
and my home overflow with warmth, wisdom, and sufficiency.

Where I've held fear, plant faith.
Where I've clung to control, grow contentment.
And where I've doubted Your care, let evidence of Your goodness abound.

You are Jehovah Jireh — my Provider, my Portion, and my Peace.

I rest in the truth that everything I have and everything I need flows from Your unending grace.

Amen.

A hand is shown holding the rim of a large, round, textured clay pot. The pot has a rough, handcrafted appearance with visible ridges and a wide, open mouth. The background is a light-colored, wrinkled fabric, possibly a bedsheet or curtain, which adds to the organic and tactile feel of the image. The overall lighting is soft and warm, creating a calm and contemplative atmosphere.

Cognitive Reframing

Cognitive Reframing Short Workbook

A guided workbook to transform limiting thoughts into truth-based prayers and perspectives.